THOSE unsavory court proceedings at Los Angeles, where the law tried to find out whether a former movie star did or did not swipe a young woman's husband, are just about entitled to rank as the most depressing news of the year.

Plan To Advance Farmers 10c Pound For Cotton Crop

Must Conform to Next Year's Acreage Reduction Program

ACTION IS SOUGHT

Cotton States Delegates
Had Previously Asked U.
S. to Pay 15 Cents

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An administration plan to advance 10 cents per pound on this year's cotton crop to farmers who will conform to next year's acreage reduction program was predicted Friday by Senator Bankhead after a call at the White House.

After conferring with President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace and George Peck, agricultural administrator, Bankhead said the plan would be worked out as quickly as possible.

Wallace and Peck left the White House to confer with financial agents of the government with the obvious intent of putting the plan into early operation.

Bankhead is the spokesman of the Cotton States representatives who recently gathered here.

The cotton belt states first proposed that the government purchase half of this year's crop still held by producers—about 5,000,000 bales—at 15 cents a pound, with the understanding that for every bale purchased by the government the producers will cut next year's crop that much.

Speeds Federal Purchases
WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Roosevelt Friday speeded his program for federal purchase of surplus foodstuffs and staples for the needy with orders to get it underway within the next 30 days.

He conferred with Secretary Wallace and Lewis Douglas, budget director into effect the dual plan to take the surpluses off glutted markets and feed the unemployed.

Douglas arranged for necessary funds to carry on the program, roughly estimated at $75,000,000.

Public Works Program
CHICAGO — (AP) — President Roosevelt told the mayors of the nation's largest cities Friday to bring in plans for using $3,000,000,000 in federal public works fund and the government would allocate the money with all possible speed. The president's message was read at the United States conference of mayors, which is being held here.

Ford Company to Cut Working Hours

32-Hour Week Is Predicted Within Next Two Weeks

DETROIT — (AP) — There were strong indications Friday that the Ford Motor company, within a fortnight will place its employees on a 32-hour basis, thus bringing the company within the work week provision of the NRA automotive code which it has not signed.

Although there was no official statement from the company, comment in automotive circles generally was that the company is revising its working schedules so that employees will work 64 hours every two weeks, averaging 32 hours a week. The NRA automotive code provides for a 35-hour work week, and a minimum pay of 43 cents an hour.

The Ford scale at present is 50 cents an hour for the lowest paid employees.

Frazier Is Reported to Have Visited De Queen

DE QUEEN — Night workers at the City Bakery in this city are convinced that they had a customer some time after midnight Thursday morning who was none other than Charles Frazier, Louisiana penitentiary escapee and notorious Southwest Arkansas bandit.

The man, wearing two big six-shooters, is said to have walked into the bakery and purchased a loaf of bread, paying for same and walking out. Harvey Wood, one of the employees on duty at the time, said he knows Frazier.

Frazier is quite well known in De Queen and vicinity. He was in the city several times during his Christmas parole from the Arkansas penitentiary, which parole he extended without leave before committing a series of crimes which resulted in his incarceration for a life sentence in the Louisiana penitentiary.

Local officers would not be surprised at his reappearance here, but Sheriff J. M. Sutton is skeptical concerning the identity of the man seen at the local bakery.

That's not so much because the details were unusually malicious. They weren't, they were probably milder than is usual in a case of this kind. It's just that the whole business displayed such a lamentable misconception of the marriage relationship, such a complete failure to comprehend the philosophy that must underlie any successful marriage.

People have been handing down advice on marriage for a good many centuries, now, and the thing has been discussed more freely and frequently in the last few years than ever before. But still the world seems to be full of people who just don't get the idea.

X X X
It happens over and over. A man and a woman fall in love, get married, and wait for life to bring them a placid happy-ever-after continuity. Then, pretty soon, he starts flitting about with some other woman, or she begins to go around with some other man, and the fat is in the fire. There are tears, accusations, angry scenes—

Most of this, probably, could be avoided if young husbands and wives could only realize that there isn't any easy recipe for the happy-ever-after business. Marriages aren't made that way. They are built up on disillusionment, disappointment and sorrow, as often as not, and you have to work with all your soul for the rewards that a successful marriage offers.

X X X
There are bound to be times when a wife feels her husband is a stupid, obtuse and thoughtless brute; there are bound to be times when a husband feels that his wife is flighty and unreasonable. But what of it? Human nature is imperfect, and it probably always will be. The price of a successful marriage is forbearance and forgiveness and a determination to make a go of it.

But so many people won't realize that. They expect marriage to be one long idyll. It isn't; it never has been and it never will be; but when they find that out they cry to heaven that they have been shamefully used instead of getting the teeth and pitching in to make a success of it anyway.

If you sometimes wonder why American city government is so often the despair of the political scientist, you might listen to this story.

A man named Maurice Maschke retired not long ago after serving many years as Republican party boss in Cleveland, O. The other night he made a little speech to a party gathering, reminiscing about the old days in politics, and he told how his machine had finally untold Cleveland's famous mayor, Tom L. Johnson.

"Tom L. Johnson," said Maschke, "was one of the greatest mayors any American city ever had, but we beat him."

Then an innocent young man in the audience asked why, if Johnson had been an exceptionally good mayor, Maschke had taken pride in throwing him out of office; and Maschke smiled and said, "That's politics, my boy."

And there you have it. Replacing a superlatively good man with a mediocre one, if necessary; anything to get the job, no matter how the city government may suffer. "That's politics."

The airplane pilot may have a job that brings a lot of thrills and excitement, but it sometimes looks as if the fellow who flies a free balloon is even more likely to lead an adventurous life.

The experiences of two teams in the recent James Gordon Bennett race seem to bear that out pretty thoroughly.

The Polish balloon came down far up in the Canadian wilderness, and for days it was believed that its two occupants had perished. At last they showed up, alive and well—and then all hands turned to look for the other lost balloon which, it was feared, had drifted out over the open sea.

ROB STUTTGART BANK

Confession In Lewisville Robbery

Patmos Boy Held In Jail as Driver of Bandit Auto

John Simmons Admits His Part in $800 Bank
Hold Up

THREE OTHERS HELD
Captured When Found
Concealed Under Turtle
Shell of Car

John Simmons, 21-year-old Patmos boy, was held in the Lewisville jail Friday, a confessed robber, officers say, to the hold of the First National bank at Lewisville Monday noon it which three bandits looted the institution of approximately $800.

Simmons is reported to have made two confessions, the first as having been the driver of the bandit car, and later to have admitted his part in the robbery, giving additional details to officers.

Simmons was captured by Sheriff R. H. Duty, Deputy Cryer, Constable D. K. Jackson and Deputy Constable Henry Jones a few miles north of Lewisville. He was concealed under the turtle shell of a Ford roadster and was said to have been attempting a trip from Patmos to Texarkana.

Three other suspects have been arrested in the robbery. They were taken to Lewisville Thursday afternoon for identification. Sheriff Duty told The Star over telephone Friday morning that bank officials were not positive as to whether any of the three are actual participants in the hold up.

First Successful Step
Arrest of Simmons, it appeared Friday, marks the first successful step of officers in their investigation of the daylight bank raid.

Sheriff Duty said none of the money had been recovered. He said none of the loot was found on Simmons when arrested. He further stated that Simmons had told him he had been unable to make contact with the other bandits since the robbery Monday noon.

Sheriff Duty stated that Simmons admitted driving the car used in the bank robbery to the home of Dave Plumley, about four miles east of Patmos, where the car was abandoned. He said the two men with him in the car were left in the woods of the Big Bend area.

Officers appeared confident that developments within the next 24 hours would bring additional arrests, although they refused to divulge their intended moves.

Bank Robbed Monday
The bank was robbed Monday noon by three bandits. Two entered the bank, one of whom was masked, commanded three employees to lie on the floor and looted the cash drawers. One of the bandits attempted to force D. W. Gladney, cashier, to open the vault, which he did time lock on it and could not be opened.

They escaped in a car which officers say was driven by John Simmons.

Sheriff Duty said Friday that no date has been set for a hearing for Simmons. In the meantime he will be held in jail, the Lafayette county sheriff said.

Award Contracts For Fulton Paving

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — Contracts for construction of two miles of concrete pavement of the Hope-Texarkana road on Highway No. 67 in Hempstead and Miller counties, will be awarded late Friday afternoon by the State Highway commission.

The two lowest bids were offered by A. C. Campbell, of Silvestro, for $55,492.18; and McGuire & Cavander contracting firm of Texarkana, who bid $56,183.56.

The projects begin one half mile southwest of Swan lake slough bridge and ends at the Fulton corporate limits.

"Boss" to Return Here Saturday

Alex. H. Washburn En-Route Home After
Month's Vacation

Alex H. Washburn, publisher of The Star, will return to Hope Saturday, according to a post card received here late Friday, sent from Dwight, Ill.

Mr. Washburn left here the latter part of August on a motor trip to Kentucky and Pennsylvania. He attended the wedding of his youngest brother, Charles William and Miss Frances Langford, which was held at Richmond, Ky.

From there he drove with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Washburn, to their home in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., accompanied by a sister and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. Clark Yeager, of Manila, Philippine Islands.

The post card received here Friday stated that he stopped at Chicago on his trip back to Hope, visiting the fair, Joliet prison and other interesting places. He also told of seeing Herbert Hoover, former president, at the fair grounds.

Add Additional Parking Space

Parking Lane in Downtown Section May Prevent Conjunction

As an emergency measure to aid the shopping public, and to find a solution to "double parking," the city administration Thursday night placed two white lines in the center of Main Street in the downtown section, whereby shoppers may park.

Chief of Police Clarence Baker made it plain that the space is reserved for shoppers with automobiles, and that 10 minutes will be the parking limit. He said that the space should not be used when other parking places were available, and that the stopping lane was for use only in a case of emergency.

He called attention to the city's traffic regulations, admitting that they were being ignored by some motorists, and warned that authorities would soon tighten down on traffic violators. Motorists must observe the "stop signs" and refrain from double parking, Chief Baker said.

Bobcats to Meet Ashdown in First High School Game

Jimmie Jones Is Added to Coaching and Teaching Staff

NEW BOBCAT SQUAD

Locals to Outweigh Veteran Ashdown Team 7
Pounds Per Man

The football season will be officially opened at 8 o'clock Friday night when the Bobcats meet Ashdown on the local field.

The Hope gridmen have put in an intensive week of practice and Thursday "cashed off" with a light workout consisting of fundamentals and dummy scrimmage. Blackboard work was held Friday morning in order to discuss rules and play situations likely to arise.

Coach Teddy Jones will present practically a new team. Only five letter men will be present from last year's squad and four of these compose the veteran backfield, consisting of Brown, captain and quarterback; Harper and Turner, halfbacks; and Hargis, fullback. The line has been built from reserves of last year with starting positions due to fall to Green and Urban at ends; Brumfield and Houston at tackles; Richards and Mitchell at guards; and Holly at center.

The Bobcats have received the advantage of additional tutelage this week at the hands of Jimmie Jones who has been added to the coaching and teaching staff of the local high school. He is a product of Hope High School and late attended Henderson Teachers College where played on the outstanding Reddie teams. For the last two years he has coached at Dierks High School where he turned out unusually successful football teams.

Veteran Ashdown Team
Very little definite information concerning the actual strength of the Ashdown team has been made public.

Coach Earl Tye is reported to have a veteran team which is light but fast. On a basis of the weights of the Ashdown team which were received Friday, the Bobcats will have a slight advantage.

Ashdown will average 140 pounds to the man while the Bobcats tip the scales for a 147-pound average.

The starting lineups will probably be:

Ashdown	Hope
Crawford (135)	Green (140)
Left end	Brumfield (160)
Davis (140)	Left tackle
Freer (140)	Richards (128)
Left guard	Holly (140)
Sutton (130)	Center
Keith (140)	Mitchell (146)
Right guard	Houston (161)
Metcalf (145)	Right tackle
Wright (143)	Urban (153)
Right end	Brown (151)
Simpson (122)	Quarterback
White (145)	Turner (153)
Halfback	Harper (140)
Johnson (141)	Fullback
Aubrey (150)	Hargis (159)

Ashdown Eubs: Wright, Lewis, Scott, Cobb, L. Cobb, Johnson, Gentry, Simpson, Seastrunk.

Hope Subs: Spears, R. Turner, Cargile, Ponder, Anderson, Whatley, Seerest, Pollard, Andres.

Officials are: O'Daniel (Hendrix) referee; Dalrymple (Henderson) umpire; Mathvin (Virginia Military Institute) headlinesman; and W. Cook (Henderson) field judge. The admission for the game is to be 15 cents for students and 35 cents for adults.

Rev. Reese to Teach at Morrilton College

The Rev. John G. Reese, pastor of Church of Christ, left Friday for Morrilton, Ark., where he will take course in Harding college, and do part-time teaching.

He will still serve as pastor of the local church, returning here twice each month to preach the first and third Sundays.

Legion Meet Held At Washington

Dr. Kosminsky Principal
Speaker to Hempstead
County Post

"Legionnaires have always been selfish in making requests from congress, as a matter of personal patriotism for the nation's welfare."

They fought in 1917 and 1918," Dr. J. L. Kosminsky, Texarkana physician, told a large crowd in the courthouse at Washington Thursday night. The occasion was the first of a series of outposts meetings of the Hempstead county unit of American Legion.

The second outpost meeting will be held at Spring Hill Thursday night, October 5th.

At the Washington meeting Dr. Kosminsky told Legionnaires, their wives and invited guests, that congressmen and other politicians were alone responsible for a universal hospitalization bill passed by congress some years ago. Through the bill any former service man could get free hospital treatment for almost any illness, and once-a-month compensation for any personal injury.

Legislation Recalled

"The American Legion never requested this legislation," Dr. Kosminsky said. "It has made many requests, and secured much beneficial legislation for those who will never recover from war-time service those who gave their lives and the dependents of both groups. Much additional legislation is also needed. But when the National Economy League and their wealthy membership attempts to damage this relief program then I am reminded of the time they made millions while we were in the trenches. And I think the government can do nothing too good for former service men," he said.

Dr. Kosminsky stirred his hearers with a short talk. He is former state commander of the Legion, and is now president of the Arkansas Medical Society.

Finis Johnson expressed the appreciation of former service men of Washington to Dr. Kosminsky in consenting to address the meeting. There were legionnaires from Hope, and various other points in the county.

John Ridgill's string band entertained with several musical numbers. Mack Parsons, outpost commander, arranged the meet.

Wives of Washington service men surprised those attending the meeting by serving sandwiches and coffee at the close of the program.

STUTT GART — (AP) — Three women employees of the People's National Bank which was robbed by three men Friday identified photographs at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, naming one of the bandits as that of Wilbur Underhill, southwest desperado and Kansas prison break leader.

One of the women employees who was taken by the bandits for a ride out of the city limits by the robbers, quoted one of the bandits as saying he was George "Machine Gun" Kelly, who is sought in the Urschel kidnapping trial at Oklahoma City, Okla.

STUTT GART — (AP) — Three men armed with machine guns and pistols Friday robbed the People's National Bank here of less than $1,000.

The bandits forced three women employees to ride the running board of their car to shield them from fire of officers.

One woman leaped from the car as it was speeding out of the downtown district. She was uninjured.

The other women were released at the outskirts of the city. The robbers fled at a high rate of speed toward Little Rock.

The women employees and one customer were the only persons in the bank when the robbers entered.

Ransom Money Is Being Traced

Bank Manager in Kidnap
Trial at Oklahoma
City Is Called

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Testimony relating to the disposition of part of the $200,000 with which Charles F. Urschel was ransomed was admitted over strenuous objections of counsel for seven Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants in the federal court kidnapping conspiracy trial here Friday.

A. M. Carey of Minneapolis, attorney for the seven, sought to rule out the testimony as concerning a matter that occurred after the conspiracy had been closed by return of Urschel.

"Your point has effect only as to the actual abductors," said District Judge Edgar S. Vaughn.

Ralph Hagen, manager of a branch bank at Minneapolis, told of interception of part of the ransom money at his bank. His testimony brought the Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants — Isadore Blumenfeld, Sam Kosler, Sam Kronick, Pete Valder, alias Hackett and Nelson, Edward (Barney) Berman, Charles Wolk and Clifford Skelly — into the trial by name for the first time.

The prosecution has $1500 obtained in the twin cities which it identified as part of the ransom for return of Urschel Oklahoma City oil millionaire kidnapped July 22.

The return of this sum brings a total received to $2840 and leaves $197,160 standing on his "abduction account."

Court Testimony
Hagen testified that on August 5 he issued a cashier's check for $100 to Sam Frederick, payable to S. H. Peters.

"Had Mr. Frederick ever done business at the bank before?" asked D. E. Hodges, assistant district attorney. "No personal business. He made deposits for the Wolk Transfer company."

"Who are the Wols?"
"Well, there's Mr. Wolk and Charles and Isidore."

"Do you see Charles anywhere in the courtroom?"
Hagen turned his eyes to the row of the seven defendants. At this point Charles Wolk rose to his feet, and Hagen pointed to him.

"Did you check this $1800 you received for the cashier's check?"
"Yes sir."

"Did you count it?"
"Yes, there were 200 $1 bills, one $50 gold certificate, $1240 in $20 notes, and the balance in $5's and $10's."

"Did you examine the $20's?"
"Yes, sir, the majority of them were from the tenth district federal reserve." (Banks had been instructed to make a careful check of all notes re-

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

What Was Behind National Labor Board's First Formal Ruling on Right of Employees to Organize... Prohibition Repeal Will Automatically Abolish Several Federal Taxes... NRA Chit-chat.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON. The real background behind the first formal ruling of the National Labor Board was as interesting as the ruling itself was important.

The board held the Berkeley Woolen Co. in violation of its code and the recovery act itself, since it had refused to deal with any employees' representative who wasn't a worker in its mill.

That company has mills at Martinsburg, W. Va., and Winchester, Va. Vice President William F. Kelly of the United Textile Workers pulled a 100 per cent at risk of 400 workers at Martinsburg after the company was alleged to have fired members of an entire union committee when it called on the management.

The settlement hearing. Employer representatives failed to show. A telephone call came to Chairman Bob Wagner's office from Mr. Miller, chairman of the strikers' committee, to the effect that the strike was being settled locally. Miller was in Wagner's office at the time.

Labor Speech Blocked
Meanwhile, Kelly had gone to tell the Winchester workers about the Martinsburg strike. The mayor, county commissioners and chief of police said he could have the courthouse steps. The meeting was advertised. But the general manager of the company is an important politician. That night Kelly found the steps occupied by the Salvation Army, meeting there for the first time, and the local police there to bar other meetings. The higher officials had disappeared.

The ruling, applying to the Martinsburg mill, means that employees may be represented by outside union leaders or attorneys if they desire, and their own representatives mustn't be fired. The Berkeley company faces federal prosecution if it persists in violation. The precedent, in view of widespread labor troubles, is extremely important.

Contractor's Advertising
Each of the thousands of window panes in the huge, new, uncompleted Labor Department building at 14th Street and Constitution Avenue is covered with a large letter "S." That looks funny. It's the initial of the contracting company.

Since the carpenters at work there walked out some folks think the initial stands for "Strike."

Repeal to Cut Taxes
Dry minorities perhaps can console themselves with the fact that several federal taxes will automatically be abolished when repeal is proclaimed. They are the additional half-cent tax on gasoline, leaving the tax at one cent; the five per cent tax on dividends, collected at the source; the tax of $1 on every $1000 of corporation capital stock, and the five per cent excess profits tax on annual corporate net income over 12 1/2 per cent of declared value of capital stock.

The nice thing about December repeal is that, under the law, the extra gasoline and dividend taxes would continue right through 1934 if repeal were not proclaimed before Jan. 1.

Telling the Public
The alert NRA publicity staff reports that the "Manufacturers of Corn Cobs Pipe Trade Group" has submitted a code—which offers a 20-cent an hour minimum wage for women, that Guyton, Okla., has the first NRA baseball team—composed of men newly re-employed, that two South Africans about to visit this country on buying trips have signed NRA consumers' cards and that the American Association of Master Locksmiths has presented the shortest code containing 122 words and minimum price for duplicating keys of 20 cents in cities of over 250,000 population and 25 cents in smaller cities.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

In many ways the rotary system in schools is better than the old way of one teacher to a room. There is no doubt that a teacher giving all her time to one subject becomes more proficient in it. It is a day of specialization and we have carried it into education.

It has been the rule in high schools since the beginning, but educators have recently discovered that what was true of Latin is also true of grammar, and it is as necessary to have a specialist to propound the principles of arithmetic as of algebra.

But down in the first and second grades, I sometimes wonder if it is the best plan, after all.

A teacher herself told me of its drawbacks. She had been a first-grade teacher of high quality, as I happen to know, for several years. Then the new roomful of strained little faces every half hour or so, to teach writing.

Needs One Person's Care
"They seem so bewildered," she said. "Half of them don't seem to know what it's all about. They are new to school and school ways, and what they need is to feel at home and have a little mothering."

"With little children," she said, "it is this note of sympathy, the homey feeling that teacher start of takes the place of mother, that counts. Association of ideas means much to a little child. He likes his own little desk and seat, his little niche in the room. The other children are part of the family. He is interested in his teacher and he knows she is interested in him. He counts. He is decidedly somebody."

"But this other way he doesn't seem to belong anywhere. No one seems to be especially concerned about him. He crowds along the hall with the rest of the children from one room to another and he seems dazed. So much fussing, so much changing, just one of 50, like so many little lambs going places that don't mean anything much to them."

In some schools the process is reversed and it seems to me the feelings of these little folk must be much the same. They must be much the same. They don't belong to any one.

Older Children Like Change
In any case, I wonder if they are capable of this quick transition? Under the system do they have the happy comfortable feeling of little chicks under a mother's wing, or are they more like incubator peeps unattached and almost communistic?

With children a little older it is different. They like the change of position and the interest of having different teachers. They seem to get along very well. They are further away from babyhood.

My impression of a good first grade teacher has always been one who has a good bit of mother about her. And this friend of mine says it's hers, too. And she knows if any one does.

Maybe it is good for them to be so suddenly thrown on their own responsibility. The new idea stresses self-reliance. But with a certain type of child isn't there danger of his learning to hate school forever?

20 minutes or half an hour in the morning to devote to our appearance. Therefore, unless you may out a routine and follow it carefully, you're going to waste valuable time which otherwise could be devoted to improvement of your face, figure and hair.

After you have brushed your teeth, clean your face. Whether you use cleansing cream or soap and water, do a thorough job. Then slap on a little skin-toning lotion. Slap is the right word too. Always apply skin lotions with real vigor.

Your foundation cream or lotion comes next, followed by the application of rouge. Remember that cream rouge blends easily if you get one of the new light, foamy varieties, and it stays on a long time.

Powder, a bit of lipstick and careful grooming and arranging of your hair are the last steps. The final step is your own satisfaction when you survey yourself in the mirror just before you go downstairs.

Next: Things you shouldn't do.

New Sideline Rule Is Most Important

Football Playing Code Is Changed—Reduce Penalty for Clipping

NEW YORK—(AP)—The most important change in the football playing code for this season easily is the new rule by which the ball is moved in 10 yards from the sideline every time it is downed closer than that to the boundary, in the opinion of Bill Langford, secretary of the rules committee.

"It has been apparent for several years that the width of the playing field—100 feet—was not sufficient to permit the full strategical values which the rules contemplate," Langford said.

Will Popularize Laterals
"Heretofore only when the ball went out of bounds over the sideline was it brought in, the distance then being 15 yards, whereas a ball which became dead near a sideline was put in play from that spot. That almost invariably meant the loss of the succeeding down. A gain was practically impossible and the team with the ball deliberately ran it out of bounds in order to gain leeway for succeeding plays."

The new rule, Langford believes, will have the effect of popularizing the lateral pass and thereby open up the defense, which has been increasingly difficult to pierce near the goal line.

"Lateral passing has been on a constricted scale," he said. "Largely because of the fear the ball would be downed close to the sideline. Because most of our bowls are surrounded with concrete and steel stands it would have been impracticable to increase the lateral dimension of the playing field, but this change will have the same result."

Reduce Penalty for Clipping
The only other change of importance in the code is the broadening of the definition of "clipping," so that blocking by running or diving into the back of a player who is not carrying the ball now constitutes a foul.

The penalty for clipping was reduced to 15 yards from the point of the foul, in the belief that officials will be less hesitant in calling fouls than with the former heavy penalty of 25 yards.

How Cardui Helped

Lady Get Stronger

"I was in a weak condition when I started to using Cardui," writes Mrs. Oscar West, of Dayton, Texas. "I found it helped me greatly. My appetite was poor and I had lost weight. It was an effort for me to do my work. I felt tired all the time. I read that other women took Cardui as a tonic, so I decided it would help me. It strengthened me and increased my appetite, and I felt better than I had in a long time. I think it is a great medicine for weak women."

I hold it the duty of one who is gifted and specially favored in all men's eyes to know no rest till his life is lifted fully up to his great gift's height. For he who drinks from God's great fountain of art or music or rhythmic song must lift from his soul the chaff of malice, and weed from his heart the roots of wrong. Great gifts should be worn, like a crown befitting; and not like gems in a beggar's hands. And the toll must be constant and unrelenting. Which lifts up the king to the crown's demands.—E. W. W.

and Warmack and Miss Twitchell. Mrs. Stuart gave excerpts from the Union Signal, which stressed the fact that temperance does not pay, regardless from the angle from which it may be viewed. During the social hour, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Harry Dabbs and Mrs. T. R. King served a delicious ice course.

Assembling some of the best talent among the children of the city, Miss Joy Ramsey was the director of one of the cleverest little entertainments of the vacation period on Thursday afternoon on the back lawn of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. The entertainment was in the form of a play entitled "A Radio Story."

Each part was splendidly carried out and the costumes were especially interesting. Ice cream, cookies and candies were sold during the performance, the proceeds were used to buy tickets for a picture show party at the Saenger on Thursday evening. Those taking part were Joy Ramsey, Dorothy Honeycutt, Leonice Bundy, Verna May Gunn, Nancy Hill, Clovis Hassell, Temple Fay Toland, Margery Dildy, Sara Ann Holland, Martha Houston, Frances and Marilyn Erwin, Fatsy Ann Campbell, Martha June Eason, Mary Ross and Matilda McFadden. Charles Bundy, Bryant Bundy and Billy Ramsey. The audience was composed of the parents and friends in the neighborhood.

Mrs. D. L. Bush and little daughter, Margaret, have returned from a three weeks visit with friends in San Antonio, Texas.

Continuing the series of Vanishing Tonsils inaugurated by the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church, Mrs. Sid McMath and Miss Cornelia Whitehurst entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. McMath on North Washington street. A number of interesting games and contests featured the afternoon's entertainment, after which the hostesses served a most tempting salad course.

Mrs. H. H. Stuart, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, was hostess to the Union Thursday afternoon at her home on West avenue C. An unusually large membership was in attendance, and three new members were added to the Union roll. Mrs. Vesey-Crutchfield presented the devotional, basing her remarks on Paul's letter to the Galatians. Her message was one of optimism and good cheer, bespeaking hope for the future, despite present discouragement. Little Miss Katherine Franks, who frequently appears on Union programs, again gave much pleasure when she read, "The Slaying of the Dragon."

Mrs. Stuart presided over a short business session, at which time, the secretary was instructed to prepare resolutions of respect in the passing of Mrs. W. P. Agee, Sr., who had been a member of the Union for many years. The nominating committee, Dr. Etta Champlin, Mrs. W. R. Chandler and Mrs. S. H. Warmack presented the names of Mrs. T. R. King, president; Mrs. Vesey-Crutchfield, vice president; Mrs. B. Springs, secretary and Mrs. Ida Boyett, treasurer, as the slate for the new officers, and they were unanimously elected. Mrs. D. B. Thompson, who had prepared the program on temperance education in public schools, led interesting discussions on the subject followed by Mesdames King, Cantley

Rogers Film at Saenger Sunday

Philosopher — Comedian Plays Role as Small Town Physician

Will Rogers comes to the Saenger Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in his latest picture, "Doctor Bull." It is the screen presentation of the famous novel by James Gould Cozzens. "The Last Adam," best-seller and recent Book-of-the-Month selection. It is reported as the most powerful vehicle the popular philosopher-comedian has had on the talking screen.

The story concerns a physician in a small town who, in addition to ministering to the health of the community, acts as its unofficial father confessor. None of the town's secrets escapes him. He knows the inner life of every one of its inhabitants. But it is not as a gossip that he finds himself interested in the private lives of the village. He is a mellow gentleman to whom everyone's reactions are an interesting bit of human document.

The film does not present the story of one character. Like "State Fair," the best of the Rogers screen plays, it deals with many characters, each typical of its kind. It is more than the story of one town. For it is the story of thousands of similar towns all over the country.

Vera Allen, star of the New York stage, has the lead in glistening role opposite Rogers. She was specially engaged for this role, and advance reports of her performance have been favorable that she is considered destined for a brilliant career in pictures. Others in the cast are Marian Nixon, Howard Lally, Berton Churchill, Louise Dresser, Andy Devine.

Promotion Day at Baptist Church

New Quarters Will House Various Departments of Sunday School Classes

Sunday will be Promotion Day at First Baptist Sunday school, and will also be "moving day" for many of the departments. The cradle roll and the beginners department will meet for the first time in their new quarters in the main building. The primary department will move into the new building recently constructed by the men's Bible class, and the adult department will go to the education building which fronts Third street.

This change is a part of a movement of enlargement for the whole school and is in keeping with the decision of the Sunday school council of teachers and officers to work for an average attendance of 450 for October. More than 60 members of the faculty of the Sunday school met on Wednesday evening and discussed plans for the year, and the whole group expressed a spirit of cheer that gives promise of splendid results.

Plans are being made now for a training school for the Sunday school. The school will open Monday night, October 2 and will continue throughout the week. The Rev. Robert Naylor, pastor of First Baptist church of Nashville, will be one of the out-of-town teachers, and others will be announced as soon as possible.

The men's Bible class will meet in the assembly room of the adult department Sunday morning and the pastor will teach the lesson. The class will elect officers for the ensuing church year.

Sunday night the pastor, the Rev. Wallace R. Rogers, will preach the second of a series of sermons on the great doctrines of Christianity. His subject will be "Creation." At the Sunday night service a quartet of women singers from Shover will be present and will bring a special musical number.

The pastor will preach Sunday morning on the subject "The Captive's Release." The morning program will be as follows:

Prelude—Mrs. Carlton. Anthem by the chorus choir.

Bonus Plan Tops Legion Program

Will Be Most Vital Business to Come Before Annual Convention

CHICAGO—(P)—A four-point compromise plan for veterans' disability compensation promises to be the most vital business to come before the American Legion's 15th annual convention here October 2 to 5.

Acceptance of this proposal, characterized as a compromise between veterans' demands and taxpayers' ability to pay, is considered assured. Already it has been approved by more than two dozen state legion conventions.

With the world's fair as an extra attraction, about 250,000 legionnaires and their families are expected for the "four-in-one" Chicago conclave—the other branches being the legion auxiliary, the "40 and 8" (hommes et chevaux) and its auxiliary, the facetiously-named "8 and 40" (femmes et chapeaux).

Roosevelt May Speak
An address by President Roosevelt will be the high-point of the four-day program of the convention proper—if the chief executive is able to make the trip here.

Authorship of the compromise compensation plan is expected to make election of Ed Hayes of Decatur, Ill., to the national commandership mere formality, says Phil Collins, executive vice president of the national convention committee.

Hayes had been "in line" for the post even before he drafted the plan which has won widespread favor among legion posts.

The points of the Hayes plan are: 1. That a man disabled in actual service and awarded compensation shall not have it reduced below the figure that prevailed prior to the economy act of last March unless decided improvement in his condition so warrants.

2. That when a man's disability has once been declared to be service-connected, his case may not be subject to review except in case of palpable error or fraud.

3. That a veteran of any United States war be entitled to hospitalization for any disability, service-connected or otherwise, if he is unable to pay for it. (This to provide governmental instead of charitable care for those who have served their country in war.)

4. That compensation rights given to widows and orphans be not reduced.

Support of NRA Expected
The stand the convention is virtually certain to take on two other matters has been forecast by officers, chief of which is National Commander Louis Johnson's statement that the legion is preparing to back to the utmost President Roosevelt's N. R. A. plan.

Col. William Matheny, national defense officer of the Illinois organization, predicts the legion will stand behind Secretary Swanson's recommendation for building the navy to London treaty strength and will further urge bringing the army to greater peace-time strength with emphasis on bringing equipment, particularly airplanes, up to date.

The convention's big parade October 3—from 10 in the morning to 7 at night—is expected to find 138,000 persons in uniform, 16 abreast, marching from the site of Fort Dearborn, the Michigan avenue bridge, down the boulevard, through Grant park into Soldier field stadium.

A post of honor in the stadium reviewing stand will be occupied by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the army.

National championships in individual drum and bugle playing, in drum and bugle corps and bands, and in platoon drilling, will hold an important place on the convention program, as usual. About 450 bugle corps and 60 bands are expected, though only about 100 of the corps will compete.

State Football Notes

LITTLE ROCK—(P)—Plunging into the season's opening against almost mid-season competition, the "Big Ten" of Arkansas high school football Friday will start on the long grind toward the mythical state title.

The Pine Bluff Zebras, minus some of the stars who carried the team through a successful season last year, tackle the strong Malvern team at Pine Bluff.

Facing a tough schedule throughout, Hot Springs will attempt its first hurdle in a game there against Nashville, a team with a big question mark. The Hot Springs followers are hopeful, but not cocksure of victory.

The Camden Panthers entertain the usually strong Haynesville, La., team Friday, in a game that will go nowhere toward determining the best Arkansas team, but it is expected to be a yardstick by which other competitors may measure the strength of the 1933 Panthers.

North Little Rock tackles Prescott, and Little Rock, boasting one of the best squads in years, has Arkadelphia for company Friday.

Hope Plays Ashdown
A newcomer to the upper brackets of football last season, the Hope High School takes on its second opponent of the season in Ashdown. The game is to be played at night, as well as the games in Little Rock and North Little Rock.

El Dorado and Warren meet on the former's field, while Jonesboro will go to Walnut Ridge for its second game of the season.

Van Buren meets Alma in the Northwest Arkansas conference while other conference teams engaged are Siloam Springs, which meets Watts, Okla., and Springdale, meeting Gentry.

The schedule for Friday's games is as follows:

At Carlisle vs. Brinkley.
At Helena vs. Burton.
At Norphlet vs. Standard Winstead.
At North Little Rock vs. Prescott.
At Stuttgart vs. Rison.
At Haynesville, La., vs. Camden.
At Russellville vs. Waldron.
At Hope vs. Ashdown (N).

TOO LATE

By HELEN WELSHIMER

TOO long my heart has been an open place
Where you might come at any hour you chose;
Oh, have you never thought, dear, faithless one,
Some rainy night that open door might close?
For you have known through all these vagrant months
Lampglow, hearthshine awaited you within.
But you forgot when tall stars filled the sky,
And there were drums and little wars to win.

YOU did not care that my dim candles shone
Against strange darkness, waiting for your smile.
The spring was sweet and filled with April stars,
And gipsy ways have heart-charm for awhile.
But fires burn fast, and I have had mine long,
And now I fear that it will be no more
Than memory of a driftwood loveliness
That autumn day I hear you at the door.

Vetch Helps Soil Endure Drought

Farmers May Order Seed From Stanley, Emergency Agriculturist

By planting 20 pounds per acre of inoculated vetch seed in September or October the farmer can have a good growth of green manure on his land ready to plow under about the middle of April.

This green vetch will rot rapidly and a crop of corn can be planted two weeks after turning. The seed and inoculation will cost about $3 per acre, and an increase of 15 bushels per acre may be expected from the following corn crop. There will also be a benefit to whatever crop is grown on this land the following year.

A crop of vetch turned under as soon in the spring as it has made a fair growth will add to the soil the equivalent of from 300 to 600 pounds of nitrate of soda and also add organic matter or humus to the soil. This amount of nitrogen is all that could be used by a following crop of corn or cotton.

The organic matter added to the soil by a crop of vetch plowed under will be especially valuable to a following corn crop in case of drought, which is almost certain to come at some stage in the corn crop's growth. A soil that is well supplied with organic matter can absorb rain water quickly which reduces the run off of a heavy rain. Organic matter in the soil will also enable the soil to hold a much larger amount of water.

Poor supplies of water and nitrogen in the soil are the chief causes of low corn yields. Both of these are supplied by plowing under a crop of vetch about April 15. This is the reason why the yield of corn following a crop of vetch is increased on the average of about 15 bushels per acre provided the vetch is plowed under before it is too late.

Frank R. Stanley, in the cotton office at the city hall, is anxious to talk with farmers who are interested in planting winter vetch as he is desirous of keeping records on beneficial effects of this legume.

Last Rites for a Gangster

A gangster lies, mortally wounded but still conscious, on a curb. While mounted police hold back curious throngs, a Roman Catholic priest, robed in sacred vestments, administers the last rites of the church. That's the remarkable scene which the camera portrays in this picture taken in Santiago, Chile, where recent gang warfare has exacted a heavy toll of lives.

HOOKS and SLIDES

by BILL BRAUCHER

Speeding It Up

A glance at the new football guide reveals only one radical change in the rules—and that ought to be good news for the followers of the game who from year to year recently found themselves asking what this or that play was all about.

The change is that relating to a ball which becomes dead within 10 yards of a sideline. When this occurs, or when the ball goes out of bounds over a

Did You Know That—

They ought to give Wesley Ramsey, Grand Rapids, Mich., battler, a crack at Ross' lightweight crown now that he has clinched it beyond dispute with a victory over Cannonier in Tony's backyard . . . for Wesley holds a decision over the former crown wearer . . . gained a few months before Ross lifted Tony's title in Chicago. . . . Baseball will let its big test as a pull next season . . . with Babe Ruth retiring from the picture . . . at least from everyday competition. . . . Right now the three big teams of the east look like Fordham, Pitt and—Navy . . . and don't be surprised if Rip Miller springs a lot of fast ones on the Army this year . . . and that fellow Chung-Hoon, the Hawaiian, will pull some Oriental mysticisms with the ball before he finishes his last year in the Navy backfield.

The new regulation should open up play along the sideline and eliminate the pulling and tugging formerly in wide use as an effort to push the ball carrier outside. Besides it should make sideline play safer and give the quarterback a better chance to display his field generalship.

The old custom of automatically fasting a first down, deliberately carrying the ball outside so that it could be brought in from the sideline, is thus ended. This practice slowed up the game considerably, and was a foolish and useless gesture. The new rule should speed up the game and contribute to offensive power.

The old rule against clipping was amplified to make it illegal for a player to run into the back of an opponent not carrying the ball. Many injuries resulted from the old practice of players throwing their bodies across the back of the legs of opponents who were not even in the play.

The penalty against clipping has been reduced from 25 yards to 15 yards, the idea being to bring about stricter enforcement. Officials hesitated to invoke the 25-yard penalty as being too strict.

The drastic rules changes put into force last year after more than 50 fatal accidents had occurred in 1931 seem to have brought about greater safety to the player. There was a tremendous reduction last year in injuries attributed to flying blocking and tackling as well as on kick-offs, the latter being governed by the regulation against the flying wedge. A report showed a 97 per cent decrease in injuries from flying tackles.

Scanning New Books

Kingdom Coming," by Roark Bradford, is one of the most appealing and completely beautiful of all the novels written about the Civil War.

The story begins more than a decade before the war, when Messenger, negro slaves, Crimp, his wife, and Telegram, their little son, are being transferred from their owner's New Orleans home to his Red river plantation. It is Telegram's growing awareness and understanding of the life about him that gives us our picture of slave life.

It was an odd life, hard to characterize in a few words, by turns brutal and kindly, heedless and thoughtful, a tapestry of sunlight, melody and laughter on a background of resigned misery. All the slaves dream of freedom; some try the underground railway at the risk of their necks; others, buying their freedom out of their savings, stay right on the plantation. And underneath it all is the unspoken conviction that real freedom can only come with death when a black coachman can drive God's carriage down golden streets and the earth's disinherited enter their kingdom beyond the sky.

This conviction remains when the war comes. The slaves never quite believe that the men in blue are going to free them. Freedom is a dream, the substance of things not seen. It can't come on this earth. The old plantation life is broken up; that the freedom which follows northern triumph is only a mockery does not surprise these negroes. Their deepest belief is that to find their lives they must lose them.
